If this year's yield of cotton in the Salt River Valley is 72,000 bales, it will be by far the greatest cotton year the history of the county, exceeding by some 30,000 bales last year's total. The acreage this year is generally placed at 180,000 acres in the alley, double last year's.

While this year's cotton crop will be the greatest yet, and nearly double last year's, the average yield per acre will be somewhat less than last year, notion men said yesterday, from present indications. In estimating the crop at 72,000 bales for the 180,000 acres. they figured the acre yield at twotifths of a bale, compared with an everage yield per acre of four-ninths of a bale last year.

WINTER SPORT IN SUMMER

(Rochester Post-Express) In parts of Norway, notably the hinterland, it is a common thing to enjoy winter sports in a summer climate. Finse, 50 miles east of Bergen as the crow flies (but much further by road or by rail), is a favorable resort for sleighing parties at this time of the year, and even much later in the season. Opposite the great snowfields of the Hardanger Joekul and amid wild mountain scenery emphasized by glaciers, tourists and picnickers in hot weather costumes take tea in the open air upon a carpet of snow.
